

St Luke's Pay Direct

What is It?

St Luke's Pay Direct enables you to automatically direct a part of your salary, or to make a donation, directly into the St Luke's bank account.

Why Use It?

If you want to ensure regular giving to St Luke's, but find you never have the right amount in cash, or are sometimes unable to attend on Sundays, then St Luke's Pay Direct may be for you.

St Luke's Pay Direct may also be used for those who wish to make a one-off donation to St Luke's.

How to Use It?

Most employers allow for a salary payment to be directed to a number of accounts (eg mortgage account, investment account, etc). To arrange for a part of your salary to be paid directly to St Luke's, complete the slip below and give it to your pay office.

Your bank can transfer funds from your account to the St Luke's account upon request, or through the "Pay Anyone" option of internet banking. You require only the St Luke's bank account number (below).

Cash payments to St Luke's can be made in person at any Commonwealth Bank branch using the details on the slip below.

Some transfers may incur a fee, depending upon your bank or account type. We advise you check with your bank for details.

How anonymous are my payments?

Payments to the St Luke's bank account from another bank account may reveal the payer's account name (yours or your employer's) in the St Luke's bank statement. Using internet banking, it may be possible to suppress or withhold the payer's account name. Cash payments made directly to the St Luke's bank account are entirely anonymous.

No use will be made of any information resulting from a St Luke's Direct payment. Please speak with a Churchwarden for further clarification.

Do I still need to use the envelopes?

The parish envelopes can still be used for giving outside the parish.
